Woman volunteers her talent

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

She's the ideal employee. She works hard, is congenial to every customer, and to top it off, she doesn't cost the company a penny.

Wayne resident Lillian Russell is a full-time volunteer employee at the Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union in Wayne.

She does a little of everything including listening to customers questions and offering information. Her reward, however, for her talent doesn't come in the form of a paycheck.

"I just enjoy talking to everyone that comes in here, especially the children," Russell said.

Russell decided to become a volunteer approximately three years ago when she said she just became bored sitting at home watching television.

> "She asked me if I would wait for her until she grew up so we could work together. You can't beat that.
> - Lillian Russell

"I worked for Chrysler for 34 years," Russell said. "Most of my life I've been a secretary. When I retired I went up north and had a camp ground for about 10 years. Then, I came back here.

"I just walked in to this credit union to ask about my account, and I asked if they could use someone like me as a volunteer. Sure enough, they said they needed someone to answer questions."

Russell works five hours a day, four days a week. The Credit Union employees have become a second family to her.

"They pick me up and drop me home," Russell said. "They are so good to me here. It's so much better than being by myself. What I get a kick out of is the children that come in here.

"One little girl came in and asked if she could have a desk and job like mine. She asked me if I would wait for her until she grew up so we could work together. You can't beat that."

Russell has proven the wise old saying that "A job done well is a job worth doing."

Council requests probe of injection well unit

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A request that the Michigan Attorney General's office create a grand jury investigation into Remus Joint Venture's interest in the deep well project in Romulus is being forwarded to Lansing this week.

Councilman Michael Prybyla told his fellow council members on Feb. 6 that he was concerned that the name of Jeffery Egan, 34, a general partner in the local deep well project, is also listed as one of those being probed in the ex-Detroit Tiger Denny McLain investigation.

Councilman William Wadsworth supported Prybyla's probe motion and it passed 6-1 with only Councilman Jimmie Raspberry voting against the measure.

Prybyla originally said he felt he recognized "names" in the Detroit News story on Jan. 27 about the McLain probe, but stated Monday that a further check revealed only Egan's name was involved.

It was reported that the Federal Bureau of Investigation and U.S. Labor Department were probing whether Egan conspired with McLain and his partner, Roger Smigiel, to convert at least $2.5 million from the Peet Packing Co. union employee pension into a loan for the company.

Such actions involving borrowing or accepting money from an employee pension fund without clearance from the labor department is illegal.

R.P. Lilly of the Romulus Environmentalists Caring About People (RECAP) group also backed Prybyla's effort seeking a grand jury investigation by saying, "Egan appears to be a master at setting up these shell corporations. And I'd like to know if Waste Systems Inc. that he is president of, is just another one of those shells."

Lilly said he traveled to visit Egan's office last year expecting to see some recognition of hazardous waste involvement, but instead found only a very expensive financial office.

"I asked Egan's secretary, 'doesn't he handle hazardous waste?' And his secretary answered 'Heavens no!'" Lilly said.

Sex education materials are 'too explicit', mothers claim

> "I'm just wondering how Adam and Eve ever made it without these classes? The problem is you are teaching sexual behavior not sexual reproduction.
> - Sondra Stepchuk

The "M" word of the '90s that brought down U.S. Surgeon General Joycelyn Elders reared its head at the Monday night meeting of the Romulus School District.

Several parents of Hale Creek Elementary School students complained that they felt that the fourth grade was too early to openly discuss masturbation and other sexual topics.

Two parents, Rosemary Perez and Donna Lindsay, objected to various printed materials they claimed they had not seen before their children began to use them in sex education classes.

The parents also objected to the long list of glossary words of body parts and body functions their children are given to study.

Assistant School Superintendent Dr. Terrel LeCesne told the parents they have a right to examine such printed materials before their children use them and they are also invited to attend the sex education classes.

"That's not what we were told," the pair complained. "School officials told us our visits would embarrass our children to the point they might not ask questions during that class period."

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell told the parents that boys and girls are instructed in separate classes and parents are permitted to withdraw their children from such classes if they wish.

Christian activist Sondra Stepchuk complained the schools were "planting corrupt seeds at the age of 10 and 11."

She added, "I'm just wondering how Adam and Eve ever made it without these classes? The problem is you are teaching sexual behavior not sexual reproduction."

LeCesne reminded the parents that all the mentioned printed materials complained about Monday night had been approved earlier by a committee that included parents.

"Maybe we need to reactivate that committee to take another look at the concerns raised by parents tonight,"

Collins complains

MEAP scores are embarrassment

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Long-time city critic Mary Collins turned her attention to Romulus School District issues Monday and blasted school officials for the negative news story in the Detroit News on the district's massive investment in student computers.

Collins stated bluntly, "Needless to say I have been totally embarrassed when persons mention the story to me."

School Board President Sandra Langley and Superintendent Dr. William Bedell admitted they too were disturbed by the extremely negative news account printed in the News on Feb. 5.

Bedell said the newspaper reporter, who wrote the article, was given an eight-hour tour of district facilities and appeared impressed.

Langley admitted that the heavy influx of computers into Romulus schools are "not a cure-all" for the district's learning problems.

"We are making gains, but it would be foolish to say we expected an overnight miracle," the board president added.

Romulus students have shown extremely low Michigan Education Assessment Program (MEAP) test score results in recent years and it was hoped that in depth computerized MEAP test academies would help hike those scores.

While some lower test scores are being raised to higher levels, they do not reach the levels that school critics have called for.

Earlier this year Bedell complained the students who needed the extra learning help the most were not accepting it and the district had to decide if they wanted to make it mandatory in the future.

In the meantime, Middle School Principal Daniel Hurst has initiated such a mandatory program for students, who gained two Es the previous marking periods report card.

Collins said, "More people need to speak out on this issue to hold all of you accountable" (referring to the school board and administration.)

"When citizens create a little havoc for you, something usually happens," Collins vowed.

"If we can't read," she queried, "how are you going to teach us sex education?"

"I am a product of Romulus High School and graduated from college cum laude. My children also graduated from Romulus schools, but because of the problems listed in this

Taxpayers of Romulus....

Mayor McAnally has written many of you a letter, now, we must respond. We know you aren't interested in hearing alot of accusations, just the FACTS:

FACT Before we ever applied for our EPA and DNR " hazardous" well permits, we came to the Mayor in the Summer of 1990 and asked for her blessing. We told her that if she would oppose the Well, we would take it and our royalty offer and go elsewhere. She had the opportunity to say no, we don't want the Well. But she didn't. She said YES, go ahead, welcome to Romulus.

FACT The accounting firm of Pohl, Walsh and Goode, P.C. furnished the City with Financial Projections of the City's Royalty dated August 30, 1990 which stated, "EDS estimates that 60% of the waste liquids injected (into the well) will be classified as hazardous and 40% and non-hazardous" and that 76% of the Royalty would come from disposal of "hazardous " wastes. These projections were delivered to Mayor McAnally personally in the fall of 1990 and were also sent to the City Council. She could have said, no, stop, I don't want haz ardous waste disposed of in Romulus. But she didn't. She said YES, go ahead.

FACT When we acquired an OPTION on the Well's property in November, 1990, we immediately met with the Mayor and told her where we were going to put the Well. She could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But she didn't. She said YES go ahead. It's a good location, "because it's so remote."

FACT When we came before the City Council on December 10, 1990 and asked for a welcoming resolution (which was drafted by the Mayor's staff), she could have said no, we don't want you. But she didn't. She said YES, go ahead.

FACT When the City Attorney wrote two legal opinions to the City in December, 1990, he could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But he didn't. He said the City has no jurisdiction.

FACT When the City Council rescinded the welcoming resolution in September, 1991, they didn't say no because the zoning was wrong. They simply withdrew it because of a "change in the corporate entities." What was the real motive behind their actions?

FACT When the Mayor was notified by EPA and DNR that public hearings were scheduled, she could have objected to the " hazardous" well permits before they were issued. She could have said no; we don't want the Well. Or, wait, stop, the zoning is wrong. But she didn't, and the permits were issued (YES, go ahead).

FACT Later in 1991, when the EPA and DNR sent the Mayor copies of the " hazardous "well permits which stated "EDS is hereby authorized to construct and operate a newly drilled Class I Hazardous Waste injection well," why didn't the Mayor say no, wait, we don't want the Well. Or,, stop, the Zoning is wrong. Or, stop, I thought it was only a" test well." Instead, she said nothing (YES, go ahead).

FACT When our attorney asked the City Attorney in May , 1992 if the City would re-adopt the welcoming resolution, he could have said no, the City intends to block the Well. But he didn't. Instead, he said that EDS did not need such a resolution, since the Well was covered by federal and Michigan law and not by City Zoning Ordinances.

FACT In July, 1992 when the City Attorney wrote yet another legal opinion to the Mayor, he could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But he didn't. He said the City has no jurisdiction.

FACT Again, in July, 1992 when the Mayor gave us all three of the City Attorney's legal opinions and told we could rely on them, she could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But she didn't. She said YES, go ahead.

FACT In May, 1993 when one of our attorneys and one of our investors' attorneys told the City Attorneys that we had completed the financing of the Well and were about to start construction, and asked what City filings the City would require under local ordinances, they could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But they didn't. They said this matter was governed by federal and Michigan law, so that no filings would be required and that we (EDS) didn't need anything from them (the City)!

FACT In June, 1993 when we met with the Mayor and City Attorney and told them we were going to start drilling in about 30 days, they could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But they didn't. They said YES, go ahead, we have no choice but to allow the Well.

FACT When the Mayor's administration issued three permits for the Well's construction in July, 1993, the could have said no, wait, the zoning is wrong. But they didn't. They gave us the permits and said YES, go ahead.

FACT When we invited the Mayor and other City officials - including members of the City Council, Planning Commission and Zoning Board of Appeals - to an informational dinner in July, 1993, they could have said no, we don't want the Well and we're going to fight you. Or, wait, the zoning is wrong. But they didn't. They said YES, go ahead, we have no choice but to allow the Well.

FACT In July and August, 1993 while we were drilling the Well, the Mayor and other City officials toured the Well site, asked questions and were given additional full presentations. They could have said no, wait, stop drilling, the zoning is wrong. Or, stop, we thought it was only to be a" test well." But they didn't. They said YES, go ahead. Then they told us they didn't want our trucks accessing the Well off Wahrman Rd. They could have said they didn't want any trucks at all because the zoning was wrong and they were about to sue us. But they didn't. Instead, they said YES, go ahead an allow trucks to access the Well off Northline Rd. We spent $100,000 buying additional property and another $75,000 improving a driveway to comply with their wishes.

For over three years, the Mayor and other City officials all said YES! The, just before the November, 1993 election, they changed their mind and said NO. They waited until after we had already constructed our well and spent millions of dollars, then sprung their trap on us and said NO.

Now, a year and a half later, the Mayor has spent $400,000 of your tax dollars on her lawyers and the first lawsuit hasn't even gone to trail yet.

Last July, under an exception in the Michigan preemption statues for projects developed before 1980 (ignoring the fact that the Well was developed in 1993), Judge Morcom issued an erroneous preliminary ruling applying the zoning code to the Well, saying:

"...the City is not seeking to regulate EDS' Well nor any hazardous waste management activities of EDS, nor to exclude all such Well facilities from operating in the City, but that the City is seeking compliance with its Zoning Ordinance by requiring EDS to locate their proposed use in the appropriate zone..."

Now, according to the City, the appropriate zoned areas (MT2) are located between the Airport and Inkster Road, on the east side of Romulus and right next to the City of Taylor.

Enough is enough. We've tried to settle but the Mayor isn't listening. Last week, in Federal District Court, we filed a $100 million personal civil suit against the Mayor and a few other politicians. Guess who will get stuck paying their personal legal fees, and damages when we win.

ALL OF THIS COULD HAVE BEEN AVOIDED. WE AT EDS WOULD HAVE GLADLY TAKEN OUR PROJECT ELSEWHERE IF, AT ANY TIME DURING THE PERIOD OF 1990-1993, THE MAYOR WOULD HAVE SAID NO. SHE DIDN'T WANT US HERE - JUST AS WE DID AFTER THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE CITY OF NILES AND COVERT TWP. CONSIDERED BUT TURNED DOWN SIMILAR PROPOSALS. BUT MAYOR MCANALLY DID NOT SAY NO. SHE WELCOMED BOTH OUR PROJECT AND OUR ROYALTY OFFER.

The Well is in and it can't be moved. We are not leaving Romulus because we can't. We're stuck here forever. We have no choice but to fight. But our fight isn't with you; it's with the politicians and their lawyers who led us on and then pulled the rug out from under us. The lawyers are making a fortune from the City on this and, of course, they cope the suit will never end.

Unfortunately, you're stuck too. The Mayor is going to make you pay for the trouble she created by her flip-flop. The issue is not whether "you want a hazardous waste disposal facility in Romulus" or "should the City enforce its zoning laws," because it's too late for all that - the Well is already here. The real issue is whether you want the Mayor to continue spending your money to pay for her actions - the decision is not up to her - it's up to you. IT'S YOUR MONEY!!

Your are the Jury. What's your verdict?

P.S. If you want copies of the official court documents that confirm these FACTS, and others, including under-oath depositions of Mayor McAnally and David Paul, a videotape of the December 10, 1990 City Council meeting, the 1990 Financial Projections of the City's Royalty, the City Attorney's legal opinions, EDS' hazardous well permit, correspondence with the Mayor and other City officials from EDS, the DNR and EPA, Ohio EPA, and more, call us at 955-2100. We'll send them to you at nor charge, in confidence and nor obligation whatsoever. Don't take our word for it - Learn the FACTS for yourself.

Judge Green is sworn in

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A smiling 34th District Court Judge Tina Brooks Green was ceremoniously sworn in by veteran Judge Henry Zaborowski before an overflow crowd in the remodeled Romulus City Council Chambers last Thursday evening.

Green, 31, was elected judge last November when she swept every voting precinct in the five community battle with incumbent 34th District Court Chief Judge Felix Rogalle.

She was officially sworn into office late in December and took over the bench on Jan. 3, but delayed her ceremonial swearing in until last week because of various court vacations and commitments.

The ceremonial program opened with Huron Township Supervisor Christine Gamber acting as master of ceremonies and the Rev. Peter Cornell, deacon of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, offering the same invocation that was used when America's first President George Washington was sworn in.

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally provided the official welcome to the city and introduced the political notables in the audience. McAnally also expressed great pride in having "a lady judge" added to the 34th District Court staff.

McAnally expressed some earlier concerns as to whether the remodeled council chambers would be finished in time for the ceremonies and expressed pleasure that the visitors were on hand to see the improved City Hall.

Retired 34th District Court Judge James B. Stone introduced all the visiting judges. He later asked for a personal photo of himself and Green, saying finally I can pose with someone of similar physical size.

"Photos with others make me feel like I'm standing in a ditch," he quipped.

Maria Franek, an attorney from the Brooks and Kushman law firm of Southfield that Green previously served with, read her open letter to Green stating that "as a friend I am proud of your accomplishments as well as seeing that your enthusiasm and devotion has never waned."

Franek also praised the fact that Green has not given up her ability to offer advise and consolation to fellow staff members in the district court, just as she did at the law firm.

There are two aims in life, Franek reminded Green, the first is to get what you want out of life and the second is to enjoy it.

Zaborowski then administered the ceremonial oath taking and Chief Judge William J. Szlinis presented her with her black court robe, while telling her, "you now must listen and be judicial. You have given up the right to be biased and prejudicial."

The judge's father, Ernie L. Brooks, "urged his daughter to savor the moment" of the night's festivities.

"She is not my pride and joy, but her own pride and joy," he said.

Brooks then outlined his daughter's past successes in college, law school and now with her election as judge. He closed his brief talk as he opened it lovingly urging her to "savor the moment."

Green then introduced her family, citing them for helping to create her massive electoral win.

"They walked door to door with me during the campaign and I couldn't have done it without the support of my family and the love of my husband."

The crowd then was urged to join Green in a festive social hour in the center of the 34th District Court building. The food was presented by the court staff, Green said.

"OK Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce members....start your engines!"

The chamber will kick off its 1995 Membership Road Rally next Monday under the chairmanship of David Goodwin of Lademan and Youd of Michigan.

Three teams of chamber members are being formed by team leaders: Patty Ayres, Dolores Witzgall and Dennis Worsley.

Non-chamber member Romulus businesses will be receiving information in the mail and a phone call from one of the team members, Goodwin said.

The team members and the new members will be eligible for one of two prize trips for two to visit Atlantic City, N.J.

The team member who sponsors the most new members by the May 24 membership meeting will win one trip. The second trip will be awarded to a new member via a drawn lottery.

Other prizes donated by local businesses will be won by the new members and their sponsors at the May 24 meeting.

"The chamber is hoping to flag down 50 new members," Goodwin said, "and the expanded membership will help finance expanded operations and activities by the chamber in future years."

Anyone interested in information about the chamber or wanting to help rev up the membership rally can contact the chamber office at 1-313-326-4290.

Missing man sought by family

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A missing 37-year-old Hamtramck man (last seen in Romulus three weeks ago) remains the object of an area wide search, while the emotionally devastated family awaits any news of his whereabouts.

The missing man, Doda Djolevic, was last seen riding in a red automobile driven by an unknown man at the intersection of Venoy and Merriman roads in Romulus, his brother, Martin, said.

Djolevic reportedly is suffering from severe depression, his brother said, and left his family's home three weeks ago to go to Heritage Hospital in Taylor for treatment.

He had about three weeks medication with him, his brother said, and may have met someone at the hospital, who talked him into taking a ride.

"We are offering a cash reward for any information that leads to our locating him," his brother said.

Djolevic was wearing a heavy green winter coat, multi-colored sweater, dark blue jeans and white sneakers when he left home. He reportedly took no other clothes. But he does carry his driver's license and state identification card with him.

He has never done this before, his brother said.

"One time he told us he was going to New York and stayed longer than we expected, but he has never left home like this before," his brother said.

We have had 10 strange telephone calls in recent weeks, his brother said, in which the phone rings but no one speaks when we answer the calls.

"If for some reason Doda has decided to live somewhere else, we don't mind, But for the family's peace of mind, we need to know that he is okay and has enough money, food, clothing and medicine to survive comfortably," Martin Djolevic said.

His brother is easy to identify, Martin said, as he is a heavy smoker (two or three packs of Marlboro's a day) and walks with a slight stoop. At times, his hands also shake heavily.

He is 6 feet 1 inch tall, weighs about 190 pounds, has dark brown hair and brown eyes.

Djolevic often frequents Dunkin Donuts shops for coffee or Rally Hamburger restaurants, he said.

"I urge anyone who knows where he is living or who has seen him any where recently to call me at 1-313-873-4052. We are offering a cash reward for information that helps us locate him," his brother said.

story my grandchildren are attending schools in other districts."

Collins said, "If it takes cleaning house here to get things done, then lets begin cleaning house."

Collins added the listing of MEAP scores were even more unflattering to the district than the story that accompanied it.

Bedell took blame for the negative article saying the writer composed the story "opposite to the information he was given."

Bedell said the writer, Ron Russell, said "I did not write the headline, sub-headline or the first paragraph."

The main headline declared "Computers don't make the grade." The sub- head stated "$24 million experiment to improve test scores in Romulus comes up short."

And the lead paragraph that angered Romulus educators the most stated "After three years and a $24 million investment, the Romulus School District has lost its gamble that computers are a quick fix for lousy test scores."

Veteran School Board Trustee Kenneth Berlinn in turn struck back at Collins by saying she should have visited the schools and found out the true information for herself, before belittling the district.

Student plan offered

Romulus High School student Scott Smith presented the Romulus School Board with a student proposal for Homecoming Weekend activities.

Previously, Principal Thomas Dolan had urged that the Homecoming parade, game and dance be postponed until Homecoming Weekend Saturday for safety reasons.

But Smith said the students met on Jan. 23 and voted in favor of the following:

•the Homecoming Parade begin at 5 p.m. Friday Oct. 13 and continue through its normal route, ending at the middle school entrance.

•the Homecoming football game against Wyandotte begin at 7 p.m. at the football field behind the middle school.

•only Romulus and Wyandotte High School students and all adults will be admited without adult supervision. All middle and elementary school students must have adult supervision. Students not from Romulus or Wyandotte will not be admitted to the game.

•the 1995 Homecoming Dance be offered in the high school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell urged that a final decision on the Homecoming Weekend schedule be reached by the board's next meeting.

Sex

LeCesne said.

The parents continued to state they felt "lied to by both Hale Creek School officials and the district administration."

The parents also asked, "Who writes the definitions of those sexual words we can't find in the dictionary?"

"We don't like the Fact vs Fiction (Myth or Truth) sheets particularly those that mention masturbation or small pamphlets that include sketches of male and female sexual organs," they said.

An unidentified parent of a high school student interjected, "My son also came home very upset recently when he was asked to write a paper on homosexuality."

The parents of the grade school students concluded "MEAP (Michigan Education Assessment Program) tests show our kids can't read at a fourth grade level, yet we are going to teach them sex education!"

School Board President Sandra Langley encouraged the parents to join suitable committees to restudy the issue. One such meeting is slated for 10 a.m. March 6 at Hale Creek School.

LeCesne released a memo he received from Hale Creek School Principal Lynne Mossoian summarizing a meeting she had with parents earlier that day.

Mossoian reported parents had asked for a copy of the guidelines on the reproductive health program and the names of the members of the Reproductive Health Committee. Copies of that information will be furnished to the parents, she said.

She said she also would recommend the health committee be reconvened to address issues of the printed study.

Brookline focuses on in-and-out patient cures

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

While most of the articles in Michigan Community Newspapers' series on drugs have highlighted addiction-related problems, this article turns to the subject of in-and-out-patient cures at Garden City Hospital's Brookline Clinic.

Under Dr. Philip O'Dwyer, the cutting edge clinic is only one of 11 centers offering chemical dependency treatments based on the principle of matching an individual patient to a customized therapy.

"Since each individual is unique, there's no one cure that works for everybody," O'Dwyer said. "We've learned over the years that most treatment failures come from homogeneous treatments."

The concept of individual variation is shared by modern scientists. As brain scientist Dr. Robert Ornstein wrote: "At any mating, one male and female could produce 52 trillion distinct individuals. Factor in the number of different people who can meet and mate, and the aggregate becomes practically infinite. Simply put, human individuality is genetically too complex for any one system to explain."

Or, as O'Dwyer put it: "One size doesn't fit all." The problem, then, is trying to match an individual to a cure.

"The key to matching is making a good diagnosis," O'Dwyer said. So Brookline's staff psychologists and counselors-all with master degrees or doctorates-use sophisticated techniques to evaluate the extent and nature of a drug or drinking problem, the level of addiction, and the level of cognitive function, and to determine if other treatable problems coexist with the chemical dependency problems, he said.

"We even have an imaging device, which can see a brain thinking," O'Dwyer said. "We can ask patients to remember the registration numbers of their cars, and then see their brain processes working on the screen."

Less spectacular techniques identify patients' possible personality disorders and mental illnesses, including hypermania, depression, or anxiety disorders.

These conditions may either be treated along with the chemical dependency or, depending on the diagnosis, treated as the cause of the dependency.

"Drug or alcohol usage may be self medication for a psychiatric disorder," O'Dwyer said.

Treatment is varied according to the extent of the addiction.

O'Dwyer said, " First we evaluate the cocaine or alcohol use. Someone who drinks two fifths a day requires a different treatment than someone drinking a pint. This means getting away from the either-or mentality-it's not helpful to think of someone as either and alcoholic or not. We need to broaden the base of treatment for all alcohol problems."

After the extent is determined, the method and degree of talk therapy is determined according to the patient's intellectual capacity.

"It's important for me to know how much insight a patient is capable of, so treatment can be geared to it," he said.

This can vary from simply discussing concrete behaviors with patient having limited insight to discussing abstract behavior patterns with a more intellectual patient.

Next it's determined whether the patient should be treated alone or in a group.

"Some people are very influenced by their environment; others are less influenced by those around them; but most would fall in middle. I'm concerned with those at the extremes," O'Dwyer said.

Depending on the extent of the addiction, Brookline may suggest in- patient treatment, particularly for patients needing a medically supervised detoxification or withdrawal program.

In recent years, in response to cost containment concerns, Brookline has developed an intensive outpatient treatment programs, wherein patients come to the hospital for five to six hours every day.

"It's only for people who can maintain abstinence in their every day environment," he said.

Out-patient treatment would be probable for someone with a short history of dependence, such as a teenager.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Rory Daly just received a pre-approved $25,000 line of credit from Master Card.

Rory Daly is a 13-year-old Golden Retriever, who sheds far too much and learns dog tricks quickly.

Joan Daly, Rory's master, says the mild-mannered dog was selected from the Humane Society for his charming disposition and not his bank account. Yet, offers come pouring in on a weekly basis from Visa, Master Card, American Express and brokerage firms attempting to establish a financial relationship with the family dog.

"He gets offers humans don't get," explained Joan Daly. "I don't know about you, but a $25,000 credit line is pretty substantial."

Mrs. Daly thinks the offers started when her daughter decided to subscribe to a magazine service. Instead of using her name, she placed "Rory" as the individual doing the ordering. Apparently, the magazine service sold their list of names to others, and thus "Rory" became a man of financial means overnight.

Credit companies always start their letters with "because of your good credit rating," we offer you this. One solicitation asked Rory to join the curator at the Smithsonian Institution for coffee, "because of your deep interest in the arts."

"Can you imagine," said Mrs. Daly, "us showing up with Rory at the entrance of the Smithsonian demanding that the curator sip coffee with our dog?"

She added, "It just goes to show you we shouldn't be flattered with these constant offers we get in the mail."

Right on. It also goes to show us that credit card companies and other solicitation companies don't always have the facts. It's hard for me to understand how someone who bought a subscription to Vanity Fair and Conde Nast instantly becomes eligible for $25,000 credit. Maybe credit card companies need to utilize other sources rather than depending upon magazine sales to provide them with leads.

Or then again, maybe Rory has been burying dollar bills instead of bones in the backyard all these years!

Senator's first bill is worthy of passage

Freshman Sen. Loren Bennett picked a worthy topic to address in the first bill that he introduced in office.

The Canton Republican's bill calls for tax deductions of up to $5,000 for tuition to public or private colleges and universities in 1995.

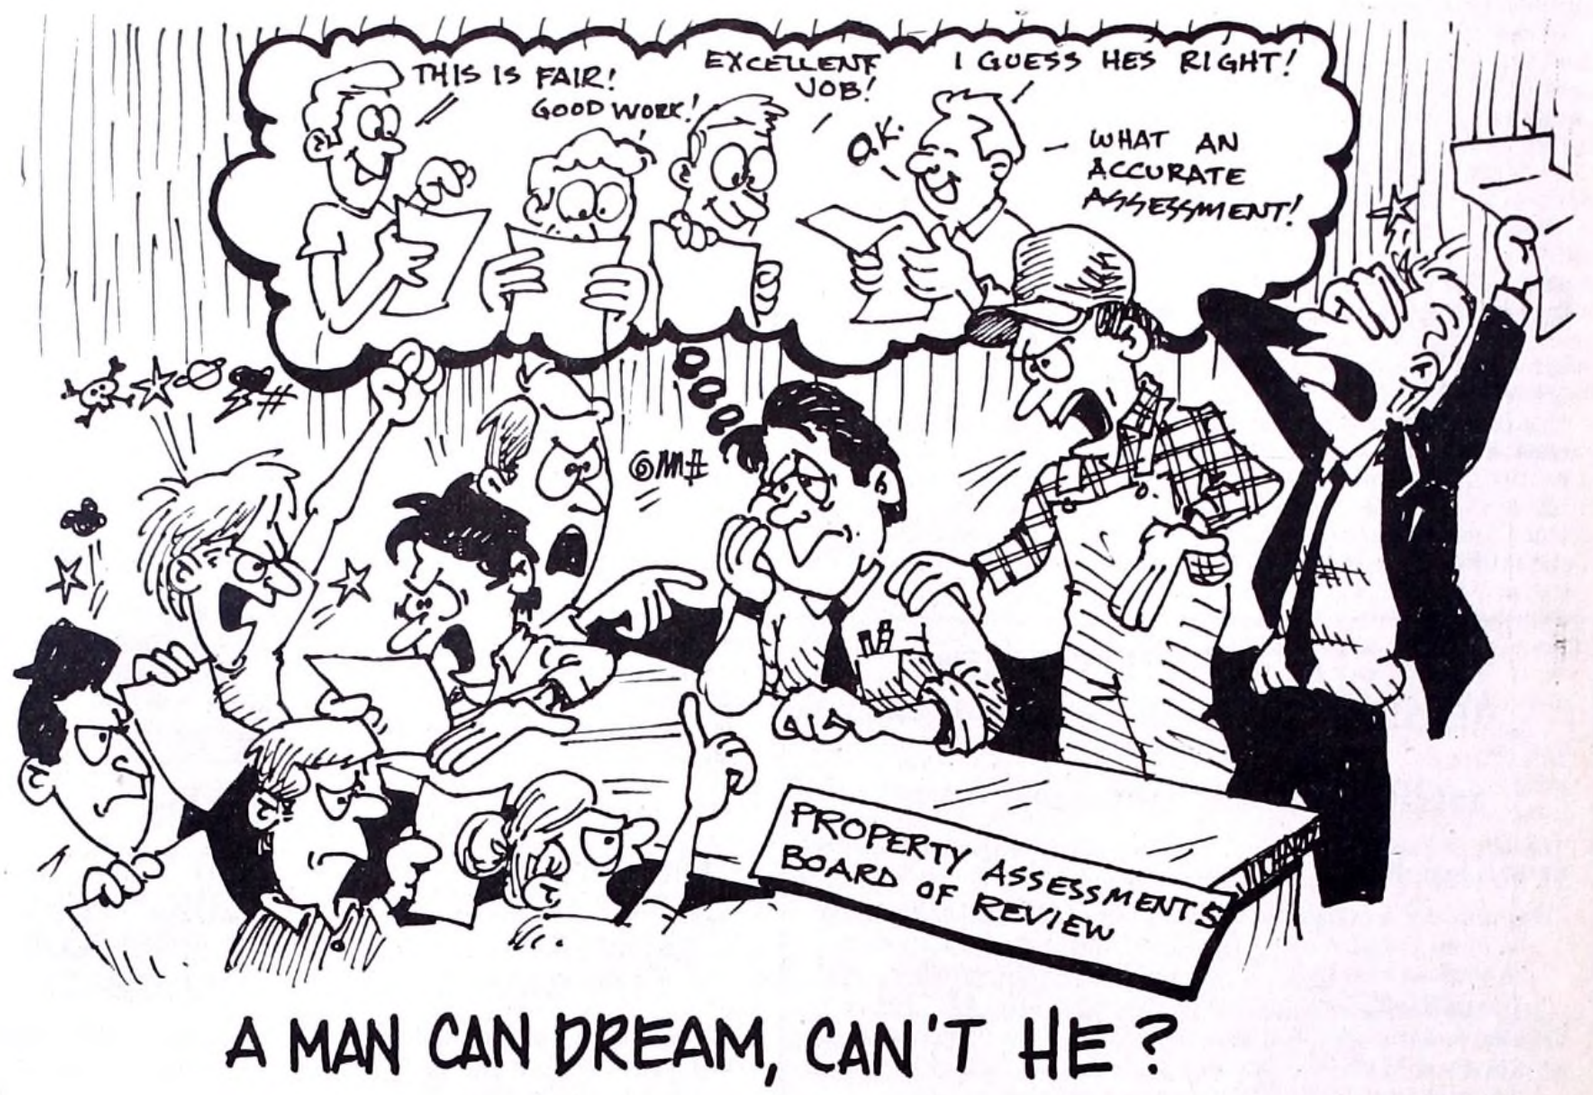
The second part of the bill would limit the deduction to institutions that keep their rate of tuition hikes to that of the rate of inflation, thus providing an incentive for those institutions to hold the line on tuition or risk losing their students to colleges and universities that qualify for the deduction.

The benefits of the proposed legislation is, therefore, twofold: it provides a tax break for many middle income families who are struggling to pay ever-increasing tuition, and its implementation would do much to hold the line on tuitions.

We know from past experience that not all positive ideas are passed into law, and often proposed legislation is drastically amended before final adoption.

Its benefits will go far in aiding the financially overburdened parents of college students, and also help to open the door for students who have previously "fallen through the cracks" because their family income restricted them from receiving financial aid, but, whose finances were not sufficient to pay college tuitions without some type of relief.

So far, the news is good. Bennett's bill has passed in the State Senate and will now be considered in the House of Representatives.



LETTERS

Information not true

To the editor:

I gave a story to your paper about a boy in a gang. The story said the boy was from St. Anthony's, when he was not.

I said he lived in Sumpter, when I'm not sure where he lives. I should not have said anything to a reporter or to anyone else without checking out the facts. I had no idea I may be endangering someone or their family.

But, the story I heard was such a positive one, and I thought other families could be helped by it.

This letter was signed, however, MCN officials have agreed to withhold the name due to a special request.

Former senator honored

To the editor:

We have sustained a great loss, and some may not even be aware of it.

Former State Sen. Bill Faust has passed away. He was one of the senior senators-I am one of the youngest.

He was serving in the Senate while I was in grade school. He was a Democrat. I am a Republican. And the list of differences could go on.

But Bill Faust was a person of great concern, honesty and commitment to the people of our state. He was always gracious and had a huge heart. He would do what he felt was right and let the chips fall where they may. Those things can and should be carried on by us all, without correlation to age, party.

When he told me he was retiring from the Senate last year, I told him very genuinely that I would miss him, and I have. The loss through death is even more profound. The people of our state are better because of this man's character and his willingness to serve. He accomplished a great deal-too much to detail here.

But, perhaps some of his greatest legacies are his thoughtfulness, gentle style and the examples that he showed us.

To his family we offer our great condolences, thoughts and prayers. But, we also offer our gratitude for having shared him with us for all these year. You will be missed, Bill.

Wrong target?

To the editor:

The people who are behind the recall petition of the school board members are on the wrong track. I'm sure the buses aren't the only means of reducing cost, but probably the one with the least hurt to students. This committee should be after Gov. John Engler.

It was his working to reduce taxes and reducing them is the cause of schools having so much trouble; some on the verge of bankruptcy. Incidentally, taxes were raised on other things. Buy a brand new car and see how much two cents on a dollar amounts to.

Economic plan criticized

To the editor:

The recent shift of political power to the Republican party will not improve our economy or the lives of most people. And, it could make things very much worse.

Why? Because we will continue down the path of viewing public policy in short-term political terms, and not in broader economic terms.

People vote their checkbooks, not their political philosophies. Politics is an offshoot of economics not the other way around as many politicians believe.

Political dialogue merely describes the symptoms of the 'disease', for instance, crime, unemployment, interest rates. Economic dialogue describes the 'disease' process itself.

So, if our economic theories and assumptions are wrong or counter productive, political disaster is virtually inevitable. And, no amount of political rationalizing will change of ultimate result.

Every political decision should be required to pass a long-term economic consequence test. Currently, our welfare system discourages many people from working. Our income tax punishes ambition and productive activity.

Low sales taxes and widely available consumer credit stimulate consumption over production.

The origins of this 'crazy economics' goes back to the depression. Since the 1930s, when capitalism was seriously threatened by Marxist economics, we have been literally obsessed with the idea of maintaining high levels of consumption.

The problem of capitalist over production was solved, it was thought, by keeping consumer consumption high-by any means possible.

At first, consumption was maintained by government 'deficit spending' on public works projects. Then the welfare state was introduced. Then the boom in credit card debt and consumer loans was tried. Finally, historically low interest rates were instituted.

The net result? Factories have been converted into shopping malls. Internationally the dollar has plummeted in value. The bond market has had an historic collapse. And a new kind of inflation looms-not the familiar old 'demand driven' inflation of the 1960s and 1970s, but the South American variety of inflation spawned by a collapse of the national currency in international markets.

Make no mistake about it, the political 'Revolt of 94' was an act of desperation by a frightened electorate. A desperate 'end game' attempt to avoid the inevitable. The storm clouds are gathering. Three generations of Keynsian debt and crazy economics are enough. This is not 'Morning in America.'

I'm calling from Garden City, where I was given a copy of a column about the proposed incinerator by one of your reporters. The article was very informative. I hope you will continue to allow him to investigate that costly project in a more in-depth manner. I find it a little worrisome that Mayor Warfield states that the pollution control expenses are going to be paid entirely through a private developer's pocketbook, when it's quite clear from records in the files that $5 million is coming from a state grant. And that strategic park money is also going to be used. So, please continue investigating.

Hello, I live in the north end of Westland and I would like to see the Westland Eagle distribute more of their newspapers here in boxes for purchase. I haven't seen an Eagle anywhere north of Warren Avenue. It would be much appreciated here. Thank you.

I can't believe that you've been taken in by Joe Benyo as the man of the year. Check out his past. Talk to some people who know him. You've been hoodwinked because you're new in town and you don't know about this guy.

I see that Bob Thomas the mayor wants a two-mill tax increase for public safety. The mayor wouldn't want his increase if he could get the police officers out of the donut shops and party stores and back on the street where they belong. We know one thing: nobody has ever been killed in the donut shop in Westland. If the police went back to work, then he wouldn't have to ask us for more money.

Anybody ever pick up the Audobon field guide to odd birds and look up, under the politicians' section, the Western Wayne warbler? There you will find a chicken-hearted night flyer that feeds off the garbage industry. Other characteristics? The birds make sure that there are no parks or clean lakes in their territory, but lots of trailer parks and youth gangs.

After receiving several phone calls regarding a poster of my husband, Jimmie C. Raspberry, hung at the Polka Dot Store on Goddard Road, I decided to investigate the matter myself. To my shock and dismay, the poster had an article with a picture of my husband with the edges burned around the article.

There was drawings to indicate fire and several warnings with red arrows drawn to my husband after each passage. The poster had a "Klan- ish" style to it and various wordings were to "incite violence" and to "insinuate death threats" upon my husband.

Nowhere on this poster were statements regarding opinions of the "Well" ... such as "No Well" or we're against this or that" or whatever warnings of a political nature. This poster was not a political poster. If it would've been, then I would have said nothing. But this was not the case. The poster, because of its Klanish style was one of "ethnic intimidation."

What's so ironic about this is that there are two other members of the City Council who are for negotiations and nothing has been said or such acts been targeted towards them and I pray it never will. I know what I saw and stick by what I've stated as well as many others who have seen the poster.

I do understand that people have a freedom to voice an opinion, but no one has the freedom to "incite violence" or "death threats" towards anyone. It then becomes a federal crime and in this instance, it is a federal crime.

I cannot imagine why a business owner would involve itself in such a Klanish act when a business usually serves all people in general, or so I thought.

Although Ms. Valdez, owner of the Polka Dot Store, tried to explain the passages on the poster, and to apologize over the matter, I have not yet to accept this because she has yet to send a personal apology to our home, nor one of a public forum (i.e. newspaper, open meetings, etc.)

Even though this incident was brought up at the Jan. 6 council meeting by a RECAP member, it was only stated after the local authorities were called to investigate the matter. It was not until then, that the poster was retrieved from the store by a RECAP member and later a letter of apology posted at the store.

RECAP member? Yes, RECAP was involved also in this Klanish act. I also question as to why this poster was not shown at the open meeting if the poster (as implied) was of no big deal?

Ms. Valdez, RECAP members and others involved must understand that the authorities were called as a legal warning and that such Klanish acts will not be tolerated by me or the rest of our families.

I also respect the fact that my husband has spoken up on behalf of the people and is not one to tuck his tail between his legs in a cowardly fashion and to stick up for the issues at hand. Just as the mayor stated "he cannot be duped," at least not for long, and in this case it was not long.

Respectfully,
Wandra V. Raspberry

Statistics disputed

To the editor:

In the article that appeared in the February 2-8, 1995 issue of your paper, titled, "Union leadership 'out of touch' officer charges," Keith Kaye has somehow found an erroneous statistic as to the reading level of Michigan children graduating from high school.

Three-fourths of all 11th grade Michigan students passed the recent MEAP reading test. This would preclude that at least 75 percent of all graduating Michigan high school students could read at a minimum of the 11th grade level, and possibly at a higher level, by the time they graduate in the 12th grade, rather than below the third grade level as was reported by Keith Kaye in the aforementioned article.

Rearing and educating children under conditions that prevail throughout the world is a tough job that requires the cooperation of parents, teachers, and the community; we don't need to endure bashing from those who feel that they would like to sell an agenda contrary to the established institutions. Case in point:

1. For years, I've hear that the education in the U.S. lags behind the industrial nations of the world. What is forgotten in this erroneous statistic is that in nearly all industrialized nations, such as Japan, Germany, Great Britain, Russia, etc., students are tested somewhere around the seventh or eighth grade; those that pass the test go on to some elite school, and those that do not pass the test are sent to a vocational school.

High school test scores of the elite, foreign schools are then quoted by statistical charlatans to show what a poor job our educational system is doing. Even with this statistical chicanery being tossed around, U.S. high school students do as well as foreign students, at the top, but a little poorer at the bottom end of the scale.

2. For years, I've heard how poorly U.S. students perform in math in comparison with math students in foreign (elite) schools. But again, as the old saying goes, "figures don't lie, but liars figure," foreign students in these elite schools are taught algebra in a lower grade than our students. MEAP test, which test reading, math, and science are given in the fourth, eighth and 11th grades.

U.S. students would not score as high as foreign students in the eighth grade because they either have not yet started to learn math (algebra) or are just beginning to learn math (algebra). At a recent international math competition, held in Singapore last year, the U.S. student math team not only won the contest which included students from all over the world, but also broke a contest record by being the first team ever to compete in the contest where all members of the team scored 100 percent, in other words, a perfect score for each member of the team.

These true statistics give a picture of a vibrant educational system and proves that teachers, parents, students, and the community are working successfully to bring youngsters into the workplace prepared to compete with the world.

Legal battle continues over landfill expansion

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Sumpter Township wasted no time entering the legal battle over the Department of Natural Resources-approved expansion of Carleton Farms Landfill.

As soon as Wayne County obtained a restraining order temporarily preventing the proposed expansion from proceding from Circuit Court Judge James Rashid, Sumpter's legal team filed papers enabling the township to argue for the expansion to get underway.

The expansion will increase the the landfill capacity from 21 to 37 million cubic yards of garbage, would increase the township's annual tipping fees collected on trash dumped at Carleton Farms from $525,000 to $1,010,981.

The township needs the extra revenue to complete its sanitary sewer system. Currently, 99 percent of residents are connected to septic tanks.

Wayne County is suing to permanently halt the expansion and cap the 21 million cubic-yard size in the county's solid waste plan.

"If Wayne county prevails in this action, our stream of revenue will suffer," said Township Attorney Leonard King, "And the projects that the township has undertaken, such as the sewer, the drain cleaning, and many others will be in jeopardy."

Rob Young, who is litigating the suit for the township, said he is seeking to have Judge Rashid dismiss the DNR lawsuit. He said that he will argue that Sumpter officials received verbal assurances that the landfill could be expanded when the township agreed to accept the dump.

"Wayne agreed that we had the right to develop the landfill and expand it in any legal and reasonable way that we could," said Young. "In retrospect, I wish we had added a clause allowing us to expand it to infinity without having to ask for approval, but at the time it wasn't a consideration."

Jury duty service can be a trial

View Point

Joan Dyer-Zinner

There is probably no more dreaded communication in the daily mail than the one from the Wayne County Jury Commission marked "Jury Summons."

Most of us - myself included - would welcome an overdue bill notice marked "Final Notice," than to receive the news that one has been selected for jury duty.

My summons arrived last month, and I was instructed to appear in the third floor jury selection room of the City-County Building in downtowm Detroit, along with a hundred or more potential jurors in Group 146.

Wayne County has implemented the one trial or one day term of service, so, other than for emergencies or severe health problems, all citizens are expected to serve. To illustrate the point, two doctors were among those of us who were called to duty in Group 146.

The genial supervisor of jury selection process, asked how many of us were pleased to be there, and no hands were raised.

He explained our duties and plugged in a video, which appeared to have been made in the late-1970s if my memory of hair styles and clothing are accurate.

Last, but not least, were the questions: Will will be sequestered? No. Will this be like television court room shows? No. Can we please go home? No.

I was one of the "lucky" ones sent to a court room where an injury claim against the city of Detroit was being brought by an employee.

The judge, to his credit, carefully explained all of our duties and responsibilities and then began the process of narrowing down the 21 prospective jurors to eight. We were asked questions about our education, jobs, families, general background and quizzed about whether or not we had experienced back injuries.

I learned that two of my fellow jurors were from Belleville - a retired woman and a young man - and two others were from Inkster and Canton. I struck up conversations with my Western Wayne County neighbors, but they seemed uninterested in small talk.

The judge told the jurors that in this case they would be expected to rule on the preponderance of evidence not on the "reasonable doubt" criteria. Silently, I wondered why the judge didn't ask whether all of the prospective jurors knew the meaning of the word, "preponderance." He didn't ask.

Interestingly, the jurors with the highest level of education and professionals were rejected.

An orthopedic surgeon and I among the "rejects" who returned to the jury selection room to read summer of 1994 issues of magazines until lunch time. After the customary hour and-one-half break, we "rejects" returned to the selection room to review the social history of America via the old magazines until we were dismissed after 3 p.m.

Was justice served?

I don't know the outcome of the trial, but based on common knowledge, plaintiffs do well in law suits against the city of Detroit, and Wayne County juries are traditionally generous with awards from the city coffers.

Maybe, the eight reluctant jurors reached an equitable decision and justice was served. But, I can't help but feel that the best decision, based on his knowledge and expertise of the law, would have been made by the judge and not a jury of the plaintiff's "peers."

And, I also wonder if the outcome would have been the same if the orthopedic surgeon and a couple of professional people had been allowed to serve on the jury.

Belleville can wrap up title with win over Monroe

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Coasting past Taylor Truman and struggling by Garden City in the league last week, undefeated Mega Conference Red Division champ Belleville moved two-victories closer to its second consecutive conference basketball championship.

The Tigers could wrap up a share of the title tonight with a victory over Monroe.

The two conference opponents will play tonight, in a rare Thursday night game at Belleville.

Belleville coach Michael Garland says he has a lot of respect for Monroe, a team that can cause any one problems.

"They are an extremely-well coached team, and we know we have to be at our best to beat them," said Garland. "This is a crucial week for us."

Not only does Belleville have to be concerned about Monroe, the Tigers also have a rematch with their arch-rivals, Wayne Memorial. Wayne has a slim chance of backing into first place if Belleville should fall to Monroe and then lose to Wayne on the Zebras court.

"The race is not over yet," Garland stressed, "and we all know it."

Belleville also managed to pull out a double overtime victory over state-ranked Saginaw Buena Vista Saturday night. The game ended in a 56-all tie during regulation period, then Belleville sophomore Rob Griffin came alive in the second OT and drilled in eight of his team's 10 points in the second OT to lift the Tigers to a big 70-69 victory.

Griffin finished with a team-high 20 points and teammate Eric Summers added 14.

Saginaw superstar Terrance Roberson, a 6-8 senior, scored 26 points in a losing effort.

Belleville blasted Taylor Truman 69-54 to start last week. The Tiger defense held Truman to 12 points for all of the first half, giving Garland ample opportunity to substitute

Nate Lewis' 11 points stood up as the game high, while Ian Gold and Steve Miller each chipped in with 10 points.

A lackadaisical performance against Garden City nearly proved costly for the Tigers. They managed to escape with their ninth conference win and 14th victory in 15 starts, 59-53.

Belleville had its problems containing Pete Males, who scored a game- high 28 points. The Tigers led by four (35-31) at halftime.

Summers, who had 11 points and nine rebounds, and Jeremy Gold, who also accounted for 11 points, topped the Belleville scorers.

Teammates Jameel Wooden and Rodney Hurst scored 16 and 10 points for the winners.

On the other side of the ledger, Fordson received 16 points from Matt Sulajman.

Wayne turned to a full-court press in the third period to contain an upset-minded Taylor Truman. Limiting Truman to only four points in that turnaround third, Wayne bolted from a 42-27 halftime lead to a 58-31 advantage for three-quarters to breeze into the victory column.

Guess and senior guard Michael Colwell led Wayne in the rout. Each scored 17 points. Wayne also placed three other players in double figures: Luke MacPherson counted 12; Randy Hurst sank 11 and Richard Johnson counted 10 for the evening.

Friday night also has been designated as Wayne's "Coming Home Game", a game dedicated to former Wayne Memorial alumni.

District wrestling titles up for grabs

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

District team and individual high school wrestling titles will be up for grabs this week as local and area wrestlers participate in the annual "wrestle-downs" to qualify for the state finals.

Inkster got the jump on local teams as the Vikings Tuesday night hosted their first Class C district competitions. Coach Sam Ellis's Vikings were to entertain Flat Rock, Lutheran Westland and Southgate Aquinas. The district winner will advance to regional competition scheduled for next week.

In the meantime, Westland John Glenn, Romulus, and Wayne Memorial are bunched together in a Class A district at Garden City. Wayne, which finished second-best in the Mega Conference, Blue Division, has an outside shot at the district championship.

Wayne finished second in the conference to Wyandotte, but coach Dave Davis's team managed to pick up a pair of gold medals thanks to the performances of the Barc brothers - Byran and Matt.

Bryan captured his first-place in the 121-pound category, while Matt also was awarded a gold for his efforts in the 128-pound class.

Wayne also earned two silvers with Mark Kennedy (172) and Pat Grzerzik (215). The Zebras finished third with Gary Linsea (100), Jack Brown (112), Jim Siurila (142), Sean McInerey (151) and Craig Brit (160).

Davis and T. J. Harris inherited the Wayne team late in the season and managed to guide the Zebras to a 10-7-1 record.

Wayne will attempt to qualify for the regionals on Saturday at the tough Temperance Bedford district, which usually gathers some of the top prep wrestlers in the state.

In the meantime, Inkster successfully defended its Suburban Athletic Conference title with a 22-point victory over Willow Run. The Vikings garnered 151 points to win the championship; Willow Run was runnerup - 129; Oak Park 0 125.5; River Rouge - 74; and Highland Park finished fifth, with 70. Dearborn Heights Robichaud and Ecorse did not field teams this year.

"This is the fourth year since we have reestablished the program here at Inkster," said Ellis, "and we have won it twice during that span."

Inkster produced five SAC champs.

In the 119-pound class, Makimba Mimms repeated as league champ with a 2:53 fall over Willow Run's Byron Miller. Mimms, a sophomore, has a chance of winning an unprecedented four SAC titles if he can re-

Wayne Memorial's 151-pounder Sean McInerny (photo above) appears to have the situation under control at the moment, however, Dale Cox manages to slip away from McInerny and post a big victory that helped the Bruins win a Mega Conference Blue Division decision over their rivals in the final conference meet of the season. Wyandotte also went on to win the conference team championships on Saturday. In the photo at the right, Wayne's Craig Britt eked out a 7-6 decision over Craig Zeld in their 162-pound match. Wayne's dream of a title is fading

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

As Belleville continues to win, Wayne Memorial's dreams of a Mega Conference Red Division title dims.

Wayne needs some help in the form of a Monroe victory over Belleville Friday which would put the title on the block when Belleville comes to town on Tuesday for the rematch.

However, Wayne coach Chuck Henry isn't looking to next week - he says that "we can forget about the title if we lose to Woodhaven on Friday.

Woodhaven, with 6-8 center Ryan DeMichael in its lineup, is a foe to be respected.

"We can't be looking over at what Belleville is doing - or not doing if we don't take care of our own business."

Wayne stayed in the title hunt with a lopsided 85-46 victory over Taylor Truman and a 76-67 triumph over Dearborn Fordson. The two wins lifted Wayne to a 6-2 record in the Red Division, and 12-4 overall.

Wayne had its problems shaking a pesky Fordson team which refused to quit and closed within four after trailing 23-14 and 45-29 after the initial two quarters.

Fordson outscored the Zebras 18-15 and 20-16 in the final two stanzas.

Lorenzo Guess continued to standout for Wayne as he tossed in 21 points and collected second rebounds.

Rockets zeroing in on crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

John Glenn;s 6-11 center Guy Rucker wouldn't let the "trash talk" get to him Thursday night. He just went about his business, trashing Farmington with 22 of his career high 30 points in the second half to lead the Rockets to a 58-41 victory over their Western Six Conference opponent.

The Glenn win, its ninth straight (9-0, 12-2), kept the Rockets soaring toward the title.

But the victory over Farmington wasn't an easy one for the Westlanders, who had problems finding the hoop the first eight minutes.

Farmington took advantage of the cold-shooting Rockets and moved ahead 9-7 before Rucker, John Albrecht and Hubbard got the team going. Glenn erased the deficit in the second period with a 16-5 edge (23-15), but Farmington refused to quit.

A Rucker NBA three-pointer as the buzzer sounded at the end of the third helped increase the Rocket lead to 12-points (42-30) for three periods, but Farmington closed within seven (37-30) midway in the finale.

Hubbard's pair of free throws and Rucker's thundering block stopped Farmongton in its tracks.

Farmington also had problems with the Glenn zone in the final eight minutes.

> Glenn will have a Parents' Night crowd on hand Friday when they take to the hardwood against North Farmington. The Rockets were scheduled to play Livonia Franklin Tuesday night.

Earlier in the week, the Rockets shook off a Livonia Churchill team, 63-58, in a game that was closer than the score would indicate.

At halftime, the Westlanders were up by three (27-24) and the super Chargers refused to go away.

Rucker's 22 points and 10 by Albert Jones were the difference in this game.

Glenn will have a Parents' Night crowd on hand Friday when they take to the hardwood against North Farmington. The Rockets were scheduled to play Livonia Franklin Tuesday night.

'Disrespectful'

'Change of attitudes' lifts Romulus to the 12th win

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A change of attitude in the second half put Romulus cagers on the winning path against an unheralded Ypsilanti basketball team.

Ypsi, a team that has struggled all yea, came back after being down 15-10 to close within a basket (28-26) at the half before Romulus regrouped and put the game out reach with a 25-9 third quarter en route to a 80-49 victory over the Braves.

It was the Eagles' fifth straight win of the season. Coach Guy DelGiudice team is 12-4 on the year.

DelGiudice attributed the victory to a "change of attitude" by team members.

"At halftime, I told these kids that they were disrespectful of Ypsi," said DelGiudice. "And you can print that. We went in there thinking that they would be an easy 'W' for us. It wasn't.

"Once the kids got it in their minds that you have to play to win, we were all-right."

Romulus put up a couple of treys on the scoreboard in the first minute of the third period thanks to Skip Luster and Michael Bell which shook the Braves and paved the way to a 25-9 period. Bell had eight of his 18 points in that pivotal period.

Individual scoring honors for the game, however, went to Bell's teammate Cliff Stewart. Stewart, a 6-2 junior, sank 22 points and also grabbed seven rebounds.

Romulus also put two others - Antoine Stoudmire and Luster into double scoring figures. Stoudmire finished with 14 points and 11 rebounds and Luster also had an outstanding evening, counting 12 points, six steals and four assists.

Since their loss to Grosse Ile in mid-January, Romulus has come back to beat some blue impressive teams including Milford, Highland Park, Rouge and Ann Arbor Pioneer.

The Eagles should not have any problems Tuesday night with Taylor Truman on the home court, but Willow Run (at Willow Run) should be a good test for DelGiudice's cagers next Tuesday.

A victory over the Flyers would enhance their chances of a shot at the Class A district championships. Although they would be considered an underdog at the Belleville district, where teams like Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn and Garden City also would be competing, Romulus could surprise the frontrunners.

Class of their own

'Makeshift' Inkster lineup throttles Willow Run

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Inkster coach Monte Dennard was forced Friday night to graduate some of his junior varsity players in a hurry and to award them varsity status in order to field a team against Willow Run, a club that had beaten the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champs the first time around.

At stake was first-place and a shot at the SAC title.

In its wisdom to upgrade education in the school district, the school board recently approved a resolution that, in part, required student athletes to pass all of the classes they were carrying.

A student could not carry an "E" or failing grade in any subject if he or she wished to participate in competitive sports.

The ruling took its toll on the Inkster varsity basketball squad last week as four regulars were forced to the sidelines until they improved their grades.

Dennard dug into the ranks of the junior varsity and brought up four players to fill the ranks and they managed to contribute in a 67-64 victory over Willow Run.

"This was a big game and bigger victory for us," stressed Dennard, whose Vikings have sole possession of first place thanks to their win over the Flyers and Highland Park's upset of Willow Run earlier in the week.

"Our kids got the message and played their hearts out for this one."

But it was Inkster's superstar, Albert White, who stepped up his game not one but a couple of notches against the Flyers.

White turned in a sensational all-around performance, scoring more than half of his team's points (34) and also grabbing some 13 rebounds. He also terrorized the Flyers with six blocked shots.

> "This was a big game and bigger victory for us"
> Monte Dennard

The challenge of getting the ball to White fell upon 5-9 sophomore guard Phillip Baldwin, who handled the responsibility like a seasoned player, according to Dennard.

"Baldwin got the job done, and he also managed to come up with a couple of key steals at the end of the first half which turned the game around for us."

Inkster took the initiative. The Vikings jumped out in front 20-13 in the first period as White accounted for the bulk of those points. Inkster stayed up 37-25 at the intermission, however, the Flyers came back and made a run for the game in the second half by outscoring the hosts 18-13 and 21-17 in the final two periods.

Baldwin's drive up layup in the closing seconds of the third quarter sounded the knell for the Flyers. Baldwin finished with eight points, as did Hanees Sabree. Chris Lindsay and Derek Davidson scored eight and seven points respectively.

Willow Run responded with 14 points each from Opio Shaah and Jesse Davis. Tyrie Reeves and Jon McCredar had 13 and 11 points for the losers.

Earlier in the week, the Vikings scored 58 points in the middle two periods and squeezed out a 78-75 victory from Rouge.

At one point in the first half, the defending champs trailed by as much as 15 points. The Vikings were outscored 21-7 in the first period before they closed within one of catching the Panthers at the half (39-38).

Inkster took the lead with the help of a 27-16 third period, then held off Rouge who made a run in the stretch.

White, double and sometimes triple-teamed, scored 19 of his game-high 37 points in the second period. He also canned 11 of 15 at the free throw line.

Monte Dennard

"Rouge's press definitely got to us in the first period," Dennard stressed. "But we managed to solve the problem in that second frame."

Chris Lindsay added 13 points and Derek Davidson chipped in 12 while Sabree finished with nine.

Wyandotte wins swim title

Scoring 302. 5 points, Wyandotte walked away with the Wayne Swimming and Diving Invitational meet held at Wayne High School last weekend.

Wayne Memorial and Dearborn Heights Annapolis battled down the wire for second place, with the 400 freestyle relay, won by Annapolis with a score of 3:37.9 to Wayne's 3:39.8.

Annapolis finished with a total of 230.5 to Wayne's 219.

Livonia Franklin finished fourth with 206; Westland John Glenn was fifth with 170; and Garden City last with 117.

There were three double winners. Wayne's Matt Ferguson won the 200 & 500 freestyle events with times of 1:55.2 and 5:11.2.

Randy Cobb, Livonia Franklin, won the 200 IM in 2:06.3 and the 100 breaststroke in 1:02.8.

John Schones,Dearborn Heights Annopolis, won the 50 freestyle in 24.5 and the 100 freestyle in 52.3.

The diving competition was captured by Mike Samson, Wyandotte, with 426.8 points.

Livonia won the 200 medley relay in 1:49.29, with Victor Selbaum, Randy Cobb, Jason Schad and C.J. Oband swimming the strokes. John Glenn took seconds, Wayne sixth.

The 100 butterfly was won by Jeremy Harleton, Dearborn Heights, in 1:00.9. The 100 backstroke went to Brian Moody Wyandotte in 1:03.9.

The 200 freestyle relay was all Wayne. Clint Nemeth, Greg Barber, Jason Garlough and Matt Ferguson teamed up for a 1:39.5 finish. John Glenn came in third at 1:40.8.

Adult program features fitness classes

In addition to the academic programs in the Romulus and Van Buren Adult and Community Education programs, several exercise and fitness programs are being offered.

Tuesdays and Thursdays, between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m. Jazzercise dance- fitness classes are staged at Merriman Elementary School, 15304 Merriman Road. The class concentrates on aerobic activity and the improvement of cardiovascular fitness.

peat the next two years.

Inkster also had the league champ in the 151-pound class as Darwin Baker pinned Jermaine Hart in 4:47, and the Vikings' Royal Gaines also walked off the mats with his second gold medal as he destroyed Oak Park's Jonta Duck, 14-3.

Inkster heavyweight Kevin Jackson retained his title with an impressive 7-4 victory over Tony Cade, also of Oak Park.

The Vikings captured three silvers: Michael Franklin (106), Jay Wiggins (126) and Jason Wiggins (134); they also had five bronze medalists: Steve Poellnitz (100), Juaquin Gould (142), Sharrell Owens (160), Thuron Edward (172) and Scott Thornburgh (185).

Pampered athletes? Not at Inkster High

Pampered athletes in the Inkster School District?

Maybe in the past, but not now.

The Inkster School Board has sent a message to student-athletes that if they want to compete in sports, they will have to pass all of the classes they are carrying.

The new rule went into effect on Jan. 1, 1995

An "E" means the end of the season for the athletes until the next card marking.

"It is a strong message," said George Thompson Jr., athletic director. "And our students have received it and will abide by it."

However, some parents felt that the school's actions were unfair. They pointed to neighboring school districts where if a students carried a 2.0 grade point average they were still eligible to compete.

"They (school board) are penalizing my kid," said one parent who asked not to use his name because he feared board retaliation. "No I am not against upgrading our kids and making them get passing grades, but if someone from Romulus or Wayne gets an "E" in one subject, he still can compete. I say they have changed the rules of the game and it's hurting our kids here in Inkster."

The cold you feel right now is how thousands of families feel 24 hours a day.

This year, thousands of men, women and children will be cold due to a financial hardship. For them, the thought of winter's cold only brings doubt and fear. Whether they are unexpectedly unemployed or the working poor, they will endure the chill of winter without the protection of a warm home. You can help prevent this by contributing to The Heat And Warmth (THAW) Fund.

THAW is a non-profit organization which helps struggling families in 11 Southeastern Michigan counties keep their heat on. It is the last resort for families who have exhausted all other possible resources. Since 1986, THAW has assisted over 15,000 families, more than half with children. Yet, THAW is not considered a handout, but a helping hand, for less than 10% of the recipients are repeat cases.

Once again, Detroit Edison is supporting THAW's efforts. Every dollar you donate will be matched by Detroit Edison and will go directly to help those in need. So, as the nights grow longer, please remember the families who grow colder.

Detroit Edison A good part of your life.

Donations may be made using a VISA or MasterCard by calling 1-800-866-THAW (or 8429). Or send contributions to: The Heat And Warmth Fund, PO Box 1000, Plymouth, MI 48170.

Dolphins search for recruits

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

"Anybody that can swim the length of the pool can join," said Jim McPartlin, founder of Wayne-Westland's Dolphin Swim Club in 1971. McPartlin would like to see some new recruits, especially in the younger age groups, and late joiners are encouraged to participate.

Students 5 to 18 years old are treading water during the 1-1/2 hours of practice when they train three days a week, McPartlin explained. Exceptions are made for students who must miss a day, so the schedule isn't exceptionally rigid.

The four basic strokes, the freestyle, backstroke, breast stroke and butterfly, are taught so that teams may compete against Garden City, Willow Run, and Taylor. In addition, they compete internally for separate boy's and girl's championships.

Age groups are broken into the following groups: 6 and under; 7-8-year olds; 9-10-year-olds; 11-12-year-olds; 13-14-year-olds; and 15-18-year-olds.

Jamie Freeze, Dolphin alumnae and six-year-swimmer, is part of the coaching staff. The recipient of a $200 scholarship last year, Freeze is a freshman at Eastern Michigan University (EMU). Another EMU student, Mark Nichols, coaches as well as teachs boys' varsity swimming at Ypsilanti High School.

Volunteers will find a multitude of activities to become involved in as the team sponsors a Junior Olympics, Awards Banquet, roller skating and a pizza party. Parents score the events and keep time.

This year's volunteers include: President Penny Lively, Treasurer Ken York, Secretary Laurie Garlough and Vice President Ken Raub.

Canton Strikers capture tourney

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Staff Writer

Canton Volleyball Coach Melinda Cain recently profiled her 1994-95 senior team.

"I've got a good group of kids," Cain said. "They're all about the same talent-wise."

Amy Price is an outside hitter and a defensive specialist as well as a leading passer.

Senior Laura Logsdon is a leading hitter and an outstanding blocker. "She gets a hand on everything," Cain said.

Katie Ray is a switch setter, who used to be a defensive specialist. She is real quick, a good passer and helps out on defense. Ray is also expected to be a strong server.

Senior Michelle Moreno is a defensive person with a lot of "specialty in the back row and does serving for us," Cain said.

Volleyball student captain, Amy Price, was very positive about the third tournament this weekend.

"We pulled together as a team, which is what we've been meaning to do all season," Price said.

> We pulled together as a team, which is what we've been meaning to do all season.
> - Amy Price

The team won the tournament, which was their third, following a win at Allen Park, and a loss during the semi-finals in Walled Lake Central.

Team scores were wins against Dominican 15-2 and 15-0, Mott 15-9 and 15-5, Saline 15-3 and 15-6, Tecumseh 15-11 and 15-6, Franklin 15-11 and 15-10 and finals with Chelsea 15-13 and 15-3.

Harder competition came against Seaholm where they came out with a loss 6-15, followed by two wins 15-13 and 15-10, and Divine Child with scores of 13-15, 15-10 and 16-14.

February birthdays shared with residents, celebrities, politicians

Although February has only 28 days - the shortest month of the year - it is the birth month of many notable people.

Two of our most highly regarded presidents - Abraham Lincoln, born on Feb. 12, and George Washington, born on Feb. 22 - were born in February and are jointly honored with President's Day on Feb. 18.

The second month of the year is also the birth month of former President Ronald Reagan, who was born Feb. 6.

Born on Feb. 1, was screen star Clark Gable. Writer James Joy and actress Farrah Fawcett were born on Feb. 2 and writer Gertrude Stein and artist Norman Rockwell were born on Feb. 3. the same day Belleville resident Fay Ferguson was born.

Baseball player Hank Aaron was born on Feb. 5, with another baseball great, Babe Ruth, born the following day. Writer Jules Verne was born on Feb. 8, and actress Mia Farrow was born on Feb. 9.

Comedian Jimmy Durante and opera singer Leontyne Price were born on Feb. 10. Inventor Thomas Edison and actress Eva Gabor share a Feb. 11 birthday. Local resident Muriel Boelter was born on Feb. 13. Comedian Jack Benny and actress Florence Henderson were born on Feb. 14, the same day that Sumpter Township Clerk Joan Oddy was born.

Actor John Barrymore was born on Feb. 16, and actor Hal Holbrook was born on Feb. 17.

Other February birthdays are singer Smokey Robinson, Feb. 19, and actor Sidney Poitier, Feb. 20. Wayne Mayor Ken Warfield shares his Feb. 22 birthday with Washington, and has named his property in Kentucky, Mount Warfield - similar to the first president's home, Mount Vernon.

On Feb. 26, William (Buffalo Bill) Cody, was born. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was born on Feb. 27 and actor Zero Mostel and race driver Mario Andretti, share a Feb. 28 birthday.

Born on leap year - and, therefore, not having a true birthday this year - are Belleville residents Ralph Bird and Joseph Gierak.

Beehive audiences rock, bop, shimmy and shake to 60s music

By MARGO DEWEY
News Editor

The bold, the brave and the daring showed up at the Beehive Hair Contest last week at the Gem Theatre to compete against one another for cash prizes and hair styling products.

Two Westland hairstylists from Hudson's Salon, Marcella Papageorgakis and Taylor Lynn Thibault took their imaginations to the limit as they created unique 1960s beehives on their models including Canton resident Gwen Wendi St. Antoine.

Papageorgakis won third place for her fantasy up-do.

"I've done shows in the past," Papgeorgakis said. "It's really a lot of fun. The last one I was involved in was a nationality, ethnic look show where you designed the hair for a specific nationality."

Thibault said when she first started thinking about a design for her model, it didn't take her long to capture a look.

"Let's just say I had a vision," Thibault said. "I used a lot of hairspray, Rusk products, a styrofoam base and hundreds of hair pins."

The contest rules included: the hair style resembling the 1950s and 1960s era; hair extensions could be used; the hair design had to be made out of hair extensions or natural hair; and devices including cones or cylinders could be used for the foundation of the hairstyle.

Top prize was $300 with second prize offering a $275 pair of Rusk cutting shears. The third-prize winner received $175 worth of Rusk products.

What is hot for hair styles in the 1990s?

"Lots of color," said Papageorgakis. "Depending on the season, perms are also still popular. Soft curls and waves are in as well as more vibrant highlights."

Papageorgakis said the most bizarre design a client ever asked her to deliver was shaving her head completely.

"It was in the summertime, and she just wanted something cool so she asked me to shave it all off," Papageorgakis said.

For the elderly women, Papageorgakis said the Angela Lansbury look is in. The younger women are asking for the "Kelly" look in the television show 90210.

As the model, St. Antoine said she enjoyed being made up like Donna Reed.

The contest was a spinoff for the 1960s musical Beehive which is now playing at the Gem Theatre, 58 East Columbia in Detroit, through March 31 as part of a national tour.

Tickets are now on sale for Beehive at the Gem Theatre Box Office or any Ticketmaster outlet. Groups of 12 or more can purchase tickets at a discount through the Gem Box Office. For showtimes call 313-963-9800.

Her other model Gwen Wendi St. Antoine (back right) received applause. Westland stylist Tayllor Lynn Thibault (center) also entered the contest with her model Gena Zombeck (front right). MICHIGAN COMMUNITY NEWSPAPERS

1995 Blazer offers performance, suspension

When you were 3 years old, your mother had a hard time keeping you out of the mud puddles. Well, now you're all grown up, married, and have kids. It would be irresponsible to act in such a manner.

Well, General Motors has come up with a solution.

The 1995 GMC Jimmy/Chevrolet Blazer is the 90s answer to playing in the mud while still being socially responsible.

The 1995 redesign replaces a product that has been around in essentially the same form for the last 11 years.

The Jimmy/Blazer is a real stump puller with a standard 200- horsepower, 4.3-liter V6 with central port fuel injection.

The long list of standard equipment includes: four wheel-anti-lock brakes, side-door guard beams, a driver's aide airbag, air conditioning, and a light-duty trailering harness.

For those serious about getting dirty, General Motors offers five different suspension packages ranging from a stiff off-road setup to one used exclusively for nights out on the town, depending on what your intended uses are.

The newly-sculptured interior, is a result of one thing, competition. Ford's Explorer forced General Motors to rethink what a sport utility vehicle should be. As a result the Jimmy/Blazer receives an interior makeover that can only be described as car-like.

The dash and its controls are sculpted in a manner that is pleasing to the eye, as well as to the touch.

The new dash provides excellent location of all essential switches and gauges. Not to mention that I can actually change the radio station while driving, no small feat considering my short stature and stubby arms.

The Jimmy/Blazer's seat heights are nearly an inch lower than the Explorer's making ingress and egress a much easier task.

General Motors expects to sell nearly 75,000 copies of its new baby sport-ute (sport-utility) and judging from the number on the streets of Detroit, it seems to be a great success.

If choosing the color wasn't enough, now you have the choice of two- wheel-drive, four-wheel-drive, two doors or four, on-road or off-road suspension. Flip a coin.

According to Jim Thomas, sales manager at Tennyson Chevrolet in Livonia, the new Blazer is turning out to be a sales success.

"There has been a dramatic increase in sales this year," Thomas said. "The demand at this point has been higher than the supply."

Thomas explained why the 1995 Blazer is a success. "It is a much better looking vehicle than the one it replaced last year," Thomas said. "The four door is the hot seller for 1995."

If this modern day station wagon interests you, the price of admission begins at around $20,000.

America has scored another victory against its foreign competitors who use to rule the sport utility market. The new Jimmy/Blazer is competitively priced and offers a lot of "Bang for the Buck" in whatever form you choose.

The only thing left to do is drive in to your favorite mud hole and hang on. Oh, and don't forget to engage the optional shift-on-the-fly four-wheel-drive system, otherwise, you may finally be a true stick in the mud.

Michigan Community Newspapers (Belleville Enterprise, Canton Eagle, Inkster Ledger-Star, Romulus Roman, Wayne Eagle and Westland Eagle) in conjunction with area car dealers announces the $10,000 CAR GIVEAWAY contest.

That's Right! Readers of Michigan Community Newspapers will have the opportunity to win $10,000* (must be utilized towards the purchase or lease of a new or used vehicle from participating auto dealers) in this unique contest that begins January 5 and runs through March 15.

Here's How it Works: Simply cut out the entry blanks below and deposit them in ballot boxes at the respective dealerships. Readers can enter once a week at each of the dealerships, for the ten weeks of the contest. Those that enter more than once a week will be disqualified.

Each week a finalist will be chosen from the entries that are deposited. The grand prize winner will be chosen from the 10 finalists in late March.

So don't be shy. Let's start the new year out right. Start snipping the entry blanks each and every week. You have just as good an opportunity as the next reader to bring home a new car.

This contest requires no purchase. All you need to do is fill out the entry blanks provided and visit your friendly car dealers. The weather may be cold and snowy but the deals are hot and the cars are fun.

*MCN will make your first $10,000 in payments on a vehicle of your choice (purchase or lease) from any of the participating dealers.

Quote of the Week

Commented Romulus City Councilman Jimmie Raspberry as he questioned the need for the number of attorneys needed to represent the city.

Courtroom drama
Blinded by bullet, witness 'sees' assailant

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A 16- year-old Inkster youth, who was shot in the head last November and given up for dead by some doctors, literally stood face-to-face with the person who he says shot him.

The confrontation between the victim, Joseph Johnson, and the accused, Tyreese Ivey, occurred Wednesday in the 22nd District Court before Judge Sylvia James during an examination to determine whether Ivey should stand trial for attempted murder and felony firearms.

Ivey, also 16, was waived by juvenile authorities to stand trial as an adult. He is accused of shooting Johnson at close range on Nov. 17 in the 4000 block of Kenwood Street in the city of Inkster. No motive has surfaced for the shooting.

Johnson was rushed to an area hospital where doctors told the victim's relatives that they held little hope for the victim. Transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor where doctors performed emergency surgery on Johnson, the victim survived the close- range shooting..

Row-by-row the court spectators passed Johnson and when the defendant strolled up and stood face to face with Johnson, Johnson said, "he did it" as the defendant came face-to-face with the witness.

However, the bullet apparently severed the optic nerve which has robbed the victim of his sight.

"Can you see?" James asked Johnson, the first and only witness that Wayne County assistant prosecutor Paul Benier had testify at the examine.

Johnson replied that he "could see a body and not the face" (of a person).

James then asked the witness to walk over to the table where then defendant and his attorney, Wanda R. Cal, were seated to see if he could identify the person who is accused of shooting him.

With assistance of a court employee, Johnson slowly walked slowly to the table and right past the defendant and continue to walk up an aisle that leads out of the courtroom.

After failing to pick out the defendant, Johnson was returned to the witness stand. He explained that he did not see the person who shot him. He said that if a person stood right up to his face he may be able to pick him out. Over the objections of the defense attorney, who urged the court that the hearing be adjourned so that a police lineup be conducted, Judge James asked all of the males in the courtroom to walk up to and past the witness, then turning to the witness said: "When you see the person who shot you, speak up."

Row-by-row the court spectators passed Johnson and when the defendant strolled up and stood face to face with Johnson, Johnson said, "he did it".

"Let the records reflect that the witness has identified the defendant," Judge James said.

The defense attorney immediately set out to

Sentencing set in embezzlement

A March 21 sentencing has been scheduled for a Westland man charged with embezzlement in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Robert Swain was allegedly assisted by another Westland resident, Deidre St. Clair. A March 16 disposition hearing has been set for St. Clair in Detroit Recorder's Court.

The two defendants allegedly stole $540 from Tubs and Tumblers in Wayne on Elizabeth Street Dec. 22, 1994. Swain plead guilty to the embezzlement charge.

The Westland residents appeared for an examination Jan. 4 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and a $5,000 bond or 10 percent was set for Swain. St. Clair received a $5,000 personal bond.

Wayne police received a call on an alleged robbery which occurred 8:30 p.m. Dec. 22, 1994 at the laundry facility.

"It was during the interview process with the defendants that the two Westland residents confessed that they took the money," said Wayne police Sgt. Bob McIntyre.

Arraignment set for man in assault

An arraignment on information has been scheduled this week for a Belleville man charged with larceny from a person and felonious assault in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court.

Rickey Peters was arrested by Wayne police after allegedly trying to steal money from a Westland man who was getting ready to put his child in the family car which was parked at the Seven Star Market on Wayne Road, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"The incident occurred approximately 2:50 p.m.," said Drews. "The Westland resident was putting his child in the car when a black male approached and put his hand in the victim's pocket, retrieved money and then ran."

The victim decided to chase the alleged thief. When he caught up with Peters, however, the defendant allegedly threatened to hit him with a beer bottle.

Police officer Thomas Warren arrived at the scene and arrested Peters. He was arraigned Jan. 22 in an out county court. Bond was set at $25,000 or 10 percent.

Arson suspected in Canton blaze

An early Tuesday morning fire at the Stoneybrook Apartments in Canton Township is suspected to be an arson.

The complex, which had approximately $55,000 worth of damages, is located near Joy Road and Interstate-275.

The fire started at a storage unit on the first floor, spread to the wall and followed a pipe chase to the second floor, according to fire investigators. No apartments were damaged in the fire because the firefighters kept the fire contained in the stairwell and storage room area, they said.

Structual damage is estimated at $50,000 and an addition $5,000 of damages were done to the equipment inside.

Women cry out for chocolates

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

We always knew we "needed" chocolate, but it took author Debra Waterhouse to make our craving acceptable.

Waterhouse, a nutritionist and lecturer, has penned a book, Why Women Need Chocolate, which explains women's need for chocolate and validates our giving in to our craving.

"It's a common sense book," said Waterhouse, who also wrote Outsmarting the Female Fat Cell. "If you indulge in a bit of chocolate, you will be satisfied and end the craving. If you deny yourself, your craving will keep crying out - with the result that you may eat many more calories by trying to satisfy yourself with other foods or you may binge and devour the whole box of chocolates."

Waterhouse explains that a cookie or a piece of candy never caused any one to gain weight.

"Listen to your body," Waterhouse said. "It will tell you what it needs - and when."

Waterhouse grew up in a family - much like many of ours - where Mama insisted that she clean her plate and not "waste" any food. Now, she suggests that her mother donate money to a food drive, instead of insisting that her family over-eat food that they do not want or need.

"Extra food either goes to your waist or into the waste," Waterhouse said. "I think it's better not to put it into your waist."

She recalls that as a young girl, she was constantly watching her weight and dieting on and off.

Witness: accused killers shot him

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A key witness in a murder trial of two Detroit men who are accused of killing a 23-year-old Inkster man in "cold blood" told a packed courtroom that he didn't tell what he knew about the murder because he was "going to take care of it" by himself.

"Eric was my boy," said Maurice Gee, during testimony in 22nd District Court in Inkster. "After the shooting, I knew who the two guys who did the shooting. I wanted them myself."

Gee, 17, wheeled into the 22nd District Courtroom, survived an attempt on his life. He was shot five times late in January.

On Wednesday, the Inkster resident testified in the murder trial of two Detroit men, Tywan A. Borthwell, 20, and Antonio J. Peay, 19, who are accused of gunning down 23-year-old Eric Austin who was slain in his back yard by two men dressed in black and wearing hoods.

Austin died of multiple gunshot wounds on Dec. 10. He was shot three times in the head after he was chased down by the gunmen who caught up to the victim in the back yard of his home in the 1100 block of Helen Street.

Wayne County assistant prosecutor Paul Benier asked Gee why he didn't offer the information when he was first interviewed by Inkster police the night of the slaying.

"I told them (police officers) I ain't saying anything. I was scared at the time."

Gee later told the court that during an interview with Inkster police Detective John McGruder he revealed what he knew about the killing after McGruder convinced him "it would be best to get the killers off the street."

Asked by the prosecutor to identify the gunmen who shot him, Gee pointed to the defendants Borthwell and Peavy, who were seated next to their attorney, Ronald McDuffie.

Westland man to face trial in assault, shooting of estranged wife in home

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKIE
MCN Staff Writer

A man charged with assaulting a co-worker of his estranged wife will face charges in Detroit Recorder's Court on March 2.

Robert John Beard, 33 of Westland was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court after being found competent by a court appointed psychologist.

Beard had been arraigned on charges of assault with intent to commit murder.

The defendant waived his rights to a preliminary exam.

The alleged shooting incident occurred on Nov. 17 when the defendant's estranged wife came home from her 3 a.m. work shift with a co-worker to find her husband had snuck into the home earlier and was hiding in the bedroom.

The defendant allegedly exited the bedroom of the estranged wife armed with a loaded shotgun, said Westland police Sgt. Thomas Kubitskey. An argument between the woman and her estranged husband ensued and the women allegedly "rushed" Beard.

"He pushed her aside, raised the gun and cocked it and pointed at the victim. He (victim) dived for the floor and Beard fired a shot, missing him," the officer said. The woman and her co-worker allegedly managed to overpower Beard, called police and held Beard down until they arrived. According to Kubitskey, Beard and his wife were separated at the time of the incident.

"He pushed her aside, raised the gun and cocked it and pointed at the victim. He (victim) dived for the floor and Beard fired a shot, missing him."

Sgt. Thomas Kubitskey

Beard's initial preliminary exam was postponed because a psychological evaluation was requested in order to determine if Beard was capable of understanding the charges and if he could stand trial.

Beard, who is being held on a $250,000 cash bond, faces a maximum sentence of life in prison, if convicted. Beard's attorney requested his bond be reduced, but Judge C. Charles Bokos denied the motion and the bond will remain in effect.

Mid-winter break

Thanksgiving celebrated in February

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
MCN Managing Editor

For the past two decades, members of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville have been hosting a Thanksgiving dinner in February.

The Rev. Edwin Hoff

At first, it may seem to be a case of bad timing, but the Rev. Edwin Hoff explains that it is the best time of the year to serve turkey, dressing and all the trimmings to the elderly and infirm.

Most of the more than 200 guests who attended the Feb. 12 banquet were residents of convalescent homes and adult care facilities, Hoff said. For those people, who are shut in for most of the winter, an invitation to dinner in mid-February is a reason for "Thanksgiving."

He noted that many groups and organizations make visits to convalescent homes at Christmas, but very few extend their visits to the remainder of the winter.

Early in the year, church members began their planning for the 21st annual Convalescent Home Banquet. Both young and old participated in the cooking, baking, preparation of the dining area, serving and the clean-up. Entertainment was furnished by the Joyful Noise musical group and the Belleville High School Ambassadors Chorale.

Hoff, who has served as assistant pastor of the congregation since 1972, has a special sensitivity to the needs of those who are ill and handicapped. More than 30 years ago, Hoff was injured in an automobile accident and has used a wheelchair and a specially equipped car to make his rounds since that time.

In 1988, Hoff was named runner-up in the Person of the Year competition and was honored by the Modern Woodmen of America for his community service.

It takes a lot of cooks to prepare dinner for 200, and these five volunteers are just part of the behind-the-scenes group that prepared the meal. Observing the work of Dean Payne are Sue Stansifer (top, left), Alice Payne, Sue Arkette and Ruth Anne Herkimer. At the right, Eunice Krause sees that the floral decorations are just right for the party. Jeannine Clark (below) displays some of the home-baked pies ready for the hungry crowd. Making a Joyful Noise for their guests at the dinner are musicians Nancy Markel (top, left), Becky Liskey, Richard Riggs, Ken Palmer, Merle Liskey, Dean Payne and Richard Muse. Among the many guests are Emma Stevens, (left) Onalee Wall, Bessie Surdenik, Ruby Clayton and Velma Kulzer. Washing dishes is Dorris Harris (bottom, left). Romulus stalker charged with burning spouse's vehicle

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

An angry 26-year-old Romulus man was arrested last week on the charge of stalking his ex-wife and burning her 1990 Chrysler New Yorker.

James Lewis Schlener was arraigned Monday before 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski and ordered held in lieu of $20,000 cash bond. A hearing was held Wednesday on bond reduction, but the request was denied.

Romulus Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder reported that Schlener visited his wife's home in Romulus early Monday morning. Then about 3 a.m. he called her and told her he had just visited the house. When she said she didn't believe him, Snyder said, he told her what clothes she was wearing when he peered in the window earlier.

Snyder said Schlener then threatened he was coming back to blow up the house.

The Romulus mother of two then quickly called police to report the threat. Snyder said Schlener arrived at the victim's house, smashed a window of the car, set fire to its interior and then fled before police arrived.

Police arrived in time to see the car in flames. Damage was listed as "total" for the car.

The police traveled several miles to the defendant's home, where they arrested him.

The defendant also is charged with stalking his ex-wife (they were divorced last summer), breaking windows in the home and one time entering the home and turning on the gas jets on the stove in hope that it would blow up.

A pre-trial hearing is slated.

attack the witness's ability to remember and that the memory may be tainted due to medication and time.

Cal asked the witness if he is presently on medication, and Johnson replied "yes" and said that he took pills for his seizures.

She then asked how long he remained in the hospital and after Johnson replied "two months."

"And who was the first person you told that Ivey shot you?"

"My mother."

"But isn't true that you said that 'Snowball' shot you?"

"No," replied Johnson.

"Do you carry a weapon?"

"No," said Johnson.

"And isn't true that you said that 'Tyrone White' shot you," continued Cal, in an apparent attempt to show the shooting and subsequent surgery affected not only the witness's sight but his memory as well.

Earlier, Johnson said he knew the defendant while they both attended Blanchette School. He said that although they never were in a class together, he has seen Ivey in the hallway of the school.

Cal attempted to show the court that after the witness was shot or during the recovery period, someone planted the name of the defendant in the victim's mind and it stuck.

Upon the conclusion of the cross-examination, Benier moved that the court bind the defendant over to stand trial on both charges. The judge agreed and ordered Ivey to appear at the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice at 9 a.m. March 1 for arraignment on the information.

Judge James continued the defendant's bond, which is set at $75,000 cash.

TASTE

"In college, I majored nutrition, and I felt guilty when I ate pizza, potato chips or chocolate. I thought 'what will I say if someone sees me eating these foods and knows that I'm a nutritionist,''' said Waterhouse.

Later, through her study of foods and nutrition, she learned to understand her body and its needs.

"We are all different, and we all have different needs," said Waterhouse. "The female biology triggers a need for chocolate and other foods."

Women can enhance their emotional and physical well-being by responding to their bodies' signals. Contrary to popular belief, she said, giving in to food cravings does not have to result in weight gain and should not lead to feelings of guilt,

"We crave specific foods because of our body's survival instinct - store, store, store," she said.

It is because of the unique function of women's bodies to bear children and breast feed them. Cravings also are prompted by blood sugar needs, nutrient needs and brain chemical needs.

Waterhouse noted that women need a moderate amount of fat in their diet because it keeps brain cells "happy" with endorphins, keep skins healthy with essential fatty acids and fat-soluble vitamins.

The writer described how "eating around the craving for chocolate" can result in more calories being consumed.

"If right now, you are yearning for something sweet but vow to have the willpower to abstain you will son start grazing the cupboards and refrigerator in search of satisfaction. Maybe you have some carrot sticks, then an apple, then some non-fat cottage cheese, then some rice cakes. But, do you feel satisfied? No. Two hours later, you're still not satisfied and you can't resist any longer, so you finally give in and eat six cookies," she said. "The total calories you consume are 25 for the carrots, 80 for the apple, 100 for the cottage cheese, 50 for the rice cakes and 600 for the six cookies, or a total of 855. However, if you immediately satisfied the craving with two cookies, the calorie count would only be 200."

Listen to your body, and it will tell you - by its cravings - what you need.

"If you body needs vitamin C, you may crave oranges. If your body need magnesium, you may crave spinach. If your body need beta-carotene, you may crave carrots, and if you body needs iron, you may crave red meat," she said.

"The foods that are most preferred by women are chocolate, bread and ice cream. For men, its red meat, pizza and potatoes," said Waterhouse, noting that during one speech, a woman asked her to write a follow up book about men's food preferences, titled Why men need beer during sports events.

When food cravings are immediately fulfilled, 48 percent of women are more likely to experience positive mood changes - calm, productive, happy and alert - than men. However, when food cravings are denied, women are 68 percent more likely to experience negative mood changes - tired, depressed, anxious, preoccupied - than men. Ninety-one percent of women were more likely to experience negative mood changes than positive mood changes.

In her book, Waterhouse noted that women are four times more likely to eat chocolate than men, six times more likely to go shopping than men, eight and one-half times more likely to "love chocolate" and 22 times more likely to use chocolate as a mood enhancer.

Waterhouse introduces her "On Plan: Optimal Nutrition for Mind and Body," which is a simple, scientifically-balanced, step-by-step- approach to putting women back in touch with their instinctive food needs.

She recommends that women follow five basic principals: Trust your food cravings; discover your female pleasure foods; learn how to eat for maximum satisfaction; distribute your food to maximize mood and follow your optimal eating routine.

By doing so, she said, women will honor their bodies and respect their food cravings and satisfy their food cravings without guilt, overindulgence or weight gain.

"Women can discover the optimal eating routine that is best for their bodies, their minds and their lifestyles," Waterhouse said.

The book, Why Women Need Chocolate is published by Hyperion and is available in bookstores.

SHOT

Testifying before Judge Sylvia James, Gee said that he and Austin were with some friends, standing on a corner near their homes when he saw three men, dressed in black approach. While one stopped to watch, Gee continued, the two men in black approached from the opposite side of the street. They suddenly moved to the street and, without warning, opened fire, according to Gee's testimony.

"Then what did you do?" asked Benier.

"I ran toward Eric's house and I heard him holler that he was hit. He ran around the back of the house. I heard about 10 shots."

Gee said he saw "those two gentlemen holding him (Austin) down."

He said he later went outside and saw that Eric was dead. He was shot in the face.

McDuffie attacked Gee's creditability.

The defense attorney fired a volley of questions at the witness, seeking answers to why the witness lied to police, if he had been arrested for carrying a concealed weapon, and if he was not himself been the target of a murder investigation. McDuffie asked Gee if he was questioned in the shooting death of a Miss (Angela Naomi) Taylor.

Benier strongly objected to the line of questioning on the ground of relevancy. The court agreed.

McDuffie asked the witness how he could identify the gunmen since, according to his testimony, the gunmen had on hoods. Gee replied that the gunmen's faces were only partially covered. He asked Gee if he had ever been arrested for carrying a concealed weapon or questioned in the murder of Miss Taylor.

Taylor was shot and killed in a drive-by shooting on July 1, 1994.

McDuffie reiterated his question and asked why the witness lied to the police when he was questioned initially about the homicide.

"You told them (police) that you didn't know who did the shooting. You lied. Why?" asked McDuffie.

"Because I wanted them for myself. Eric was my boy. They're my enemies," Gee shouted back.

Later he told the court "if they (Peay and Borthwell) didn't kill him why did they try to kill me."

An attempt on Gee's life was made on Jan. 28 when a lone gunman shot the witness five times. Police continue to look for the suspect who has eluded them.

The examination was postponed last week because Gee was still recuperating from the wounds suffered in the attempt on his life.

McDuffie also challenged the witness's story on the grounds that Gee's information "came from off the streets" and that "it is clear that he is telling two different stories and really didn't know who did it."

"His credibility is nil," McDuffie continued. The defense attorney went on to say that Gee got his information from the street and it was not reliable and that he (Gee) was ready to go out on a vigilante hunt."

Refuge for the oppressed needed, minister claims

By Rev. Craig Watson

"The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble." Psalm 9:9

Their names were Ray and Valerie. With a quiet demeanor and humble spirit they asked for help. Living from hand to mouth, looking for odd jobs to sustain them, they are among the growing number of homeless in our world. They didn't ask much–only what we take for granted: refuge; a place to spend the night out of the wintry cold.

The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble."

The truth of these words probe deeper than most choose to go. Many looking for refuge do not realize they have a greater need for refuge–spiritual refuge.

Their spirit, broken and tattered by a ruthless world, is often without hope.

FROM THE PULPIT

Beaten down and oppressed in this world, many have lost sight of the world to come. They think only of sheltering their bodies from the wintry weather while exposing their souls to the cold realities of the world.

They crave food to sustain them, not realizing that their spirits are starving too. While such tangible needs cry out to be met, their spirits whimper as the soul shrivels.

"The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble."

Ray and Valerie accepted our invitation to church that Sunday evening. They heard songs of hope–of God's great love for them.

They heard testimonies of how the Lord had raised people up in their time of need. They felt the warmth of our Savior's presence and received a gift of love from God's people, a tangible gift to temporarily meet their needs. And maybe, just maybe, their hope was rekindled as they entered His refuge.

"The Lord also will be a refuge for the oppressed, a refuge in times of trouble."

Oh Lord, in these times of selfish confusion, help us look beyond our sheltered worlds to the multitudes who "have not."

Let us not judge them, lest we be judged. But, with compassion, let us do our small part to rekindle their hope. We have often waited for the next person to make a difference, but in so doing, have failed You.

Remind us, Lord of Your words.

Then the righteous will answer Him, saying "Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink?

Rev. Craig Watson is pastor of the Westland Christian Union Church.

Campaign exceeds $100 million goal

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Detroit Cardinal Adam Maida offered praise to area priests and parish leadership teams last week as he announced that his Stewards for Tomorrow campaign surpassed its $100 million goal.

"Our thanks and planning paid off with the arrival of $101,002,839 and we're still counting. We give praise and thanks to God for the intense generosity of so many people," the cardinal said. "This could never have happened without the unselfish dedication and hard work of our priests and our parish workers. I'm so proud of this Archdiocese that I want to put my arms around it and hug it."

Much of the money collected is earmarked for Catholic education in the form of tuition assistance as well as funds for youth and family issues and for training teachers and preparing seminarians for the priesthood.

A portion of the money collected also goes to address social service needs throughout the Archdiocese. Twenty percent of the remaining funds will be returned to the individual parishes for their own selected programs.

Maida said that $1 million has already to set aside for the 1994-95 school year tuition needs. Money will be distributed based on financial need, he said, and it will be continued in the 1995-96 school year.

Westland's Belin awarded JTPA honors

By GRETCHEN MADICK
MCN Special Writer

> "I'm very proud of Ms. Belin's accomplishments."
> Loren Bennett

State Senator Loren Bennett (R-Canton Township) presented the annual Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) award to Peggie Belin of Westland at the Jan. 17 alumni awards ceremony at the State Capital.

"I'm very proud of Ms. Belin's accomplishments," Bennett stated. "The JTPA offers good job training services and opportunities for displaced workers, but each individual must make the commitment to succeed. People like Peggie Belin help themselves and that's what makes these programs work."

Belin was laid off from her job more than a year ago. Struggling to support herself and her son, Belin said, "I could not get a decent job and the bills just kept piling up. It seemed like there was no way out."

Belin turned to the Job Connection, Wayne County's JTPA program, where she received employability and life skills training, along with career counseling.

Belin was hired by Industrial Relations, Inc. of Detroit as an administrative clerical assistant, where she received on-the-job training in several computer software programs.

Bennett strongly encourages those who find themselves in a situation similar to Belin's to contact the Job Connection for assistance.

"Some personal initiative and responsibility is all that's required," Bennett assured, "The Job Connection is available to help with the rest."

State Sen. Loren Bennett (R-Canton Township) congratulates Peggie Belin of Westland (center) for achieving the annual Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) award as State Rep. Eileen DeHart looks on. The JTPA offers good job training services, according to Bennett.
